Crystalite Bohemia s.r.o. Světlá nad Sázavou

The history of the glassworks in Světlá nad Sázavou began in 1967, when the foundation stone was laid and work began on the construction of a new modern glass combine. There are records of glass production in this area dating back to the end of the 16th century. This history, and the small glassworks around Světlá that still continue in this tradition, have been the source of a highly qualified workforce.

Production began in 1970 with a range of mostly handmade goods.

A revolutionary change came with the introduction of the automatic production of machine-blown stemware in 1975. Another major step forward, allowing the glassworks to keep pace with other glass manufacturers around the world, came in 1998-2000. This was the start of production on two new smelting aggregates for making large presses with unique product specifications up to 43 cm in size and weighing up to 6 kg.

In 2008 Sklo Bohemia a.s. halted production, and was reopened a year later on 1 October 2009 as the limited company Crystalite Bohemia, purchased by the new owner, the Czech entrepreneur Lubor Cerva.

Nowadays the Company operates 5 smelting aggregates with a daily smelting capacity of 96 tons of molten glass to be made into other products. This annually equates to approximately 25 million pieces of machine-blown stemware and 6 million gift range items in the high-class design of the new ecological glass and first-rate quality.

These products are exported to 52 destinations all over the world. Important clients include dealers from the Middle East and from Russia. However, these markets make up no more than approximately 15% of production.

CRYSTALITE BOHEMIA s.r.o. glassworks now only produces and processes the new, modern ecologically-clean molten glass known as crystallite (crystallin) in a special refined consistency under a tried and tested process, which, in terms of its parameters, is equivalent to 24% leaded crystal and, in many ways, surpasses it.

Some of our most successful beverage glass collections include, for example, Klára, Barbara, Kleopatra, Gastro, Laura, Klaudie, etc. From our gift range there is extraordinary demand for the Quadro, Safari, Magma, Falco and Jessie sets, among others.

The Company currently employs approximately 700 people in two plants – Crystalite Bohemia Světlá and Květná Glassworks – and generates a turnover of approximately EUR 40 million per year.

Our very extensive range of high-quality products with their first-class, timeless design also keeps customers satisfied with their utility factor, with features offering the added, lasting value one might expect from certified goods of tradition, and unique technical and technological parameters.

Company Květná

The building construction of glassworks started in 1794 by a duke Alois of Lichtenstein. The construction locality was carefully chosen in the centre of beech woods near Uherský Ostroh in the district of Strání where the glass sand of a high quality was found.

The glassworks, equipped by two kilns, started the activity in 1795. The employees were not just people living near the glassworks, but also the glass-makers living in the Lichtenstein district in Slovakia and Austria.

The glassworks produced from ordinary clear glass various utility goods as well as glass goods produced for taverns and glass products like lamps, cylinders and window glass. Better kinds of glass were produced till the half of the nineteenth century. At that time, the glassworks were bought by Emanuel Zahn. The new owner have a new kiln built and introduced the production of fine crystal glass that was produced by grinding and engraving.

Emanuel Zahn got new glass-makers for his company and these brought new experience for new techniques and ways of production. Thank to the new owner the quality of products was growing and the range of glass products was widened by table glass. This type of glass expressed the needs of the society as well as a new Austrian design.

In 1894 the name of the glassworks was changed for the original Strání glassworks into Květná glassworks or Blumenbach. This brand won the hallmark of quality and was haunted on the world markets. The company Zahn & Göpfert founded sample places and storehouses in London, Paris and Hamburg, and its products were presented in the fairs in Leipzig.

The grounding glass production in Květná was founded as in the second glasswork in Europe in 1897. Decorated glass products were exported to the USA, Africa, Australia, Egypt, Scandinavia, Austria, Germany and Switzerland.

In the period from 1961 to 1990 the glassworks were one of companies in the national enterprise Moravské sklárny in Květná.

In the period from 1990 to 2002 the glassworks were a part of a company called Crystalex a.s. in Nový Bor. This period was not about investing because of the business strategy and was focused on the growing production of automated assortment and a slow decrease in hand made production. In autumn in 2001 the company Crystalex a.s. announced the end of production in the two hundred-year old company and all 450 employees were made redundant.

In the same year the glassworks were bought by the majority owner Glass Trade Union in Prague and the production started again in 2002. This is a unique example of trying to save a company which has no parallel in the Czech history.

The Trade Union was the owner of the company till February 2004. March of 2004 was the breaking point in glassworks' development. A company Synex CZ a.s. became the owner of the company. The aim was to emphasize and support the company's brand, and to restore cooperation with ex-business partners.

In 2005 the glassworks started the production of new shapes and forms as well as samples. It also started cooperation with significant Czech designers (e.g. Olgoj Chorchoj, Rony Plesl and Bára Škorpilová). The new plan is to appeal to new customers and create a new active glass marketing system.

Business Focus of Company

Glassworks – the production of crystal unleaded utility glasses, a wide scale of colorful glass – Citrin, Amber, Rosalin, Light Blue, Light Green, Golden Rose, Grenade, Aquamarine, Turquoise, Dark Green, Dark Blue, Dark Smoke, and Grey Smoke.

Grinding – a surfacing glass decoration is made by hydrofluoric acid which is melting on the glass surface. The more concentrated acid, the more visible is grinding. Places that should be clear without grinding are covered and protected by asphalt lacquers, wax, natural resins leaded and polystyrene colors. Grinding is made in the common warm bath. The warmer bath, the faster is the process. However, the protectors melt, too.

Cutting – cracking, outside and inside cutting and ignition.

Decorating – the process of decorative cutting. Sides and bottoms are shallowly and deeply decorated and then mechanically polished. In this process there are used various types of discs that are inclined according to the grinding direction.

Ornaments – the glass surface is decorated by color layers, glitters, gold and platinum that are fixed by firing. A paintbrush is usually used (made of squirrel's, badger's and marten's hair) as well as spray painting, wrapping and covering. Reproductive techniques are also used. These are a silk-screen printing, print and transfer. Painted and decorated glass is then fired in the kiln which proves better color fixation on the surface of the product.
